

CURRENT VACANCY

To strengthen the team at ambuzzador, we are looking for an ambitious

Digital Client Consultant

Your Motivation:

Digitisation is changing almost everything in interaction and communication that was once familiar to large organisations and authorities: eye level, speed, and technologies.

What remains constant, however, is the desire of people to have their personal needs be recognised and taken seriously by brands.

You accompany and help our clients transition to the digital age, with a fine sense for trends and people thanks to your curiosity and technical as well as management skills.

Your Tasks:

- Conception, independent implementation and controlling of consulting projects, in collaboration with the account team (account manager, project manager, social media editorial staff, etc.)
- Conceptual and financial planning and achieving the goals of your projects, using agile methods (Scrum) and Design Thinking
- Relationship management with the specialised departments concerned of the client
- Public presentation of your activities: blogging on the ambuzzador website, lectures and trainings
- Continuous development of your topics as Digital Consultant

Your Profile:

We are searching for a responsible, creative and visionary Consultant who is strongly dedicated and committed to our focus topics, the team and our clients:

- You are experienced in autonomously designing, managing and implementing projects in one of the following areas: product marketing/marketing/CRM management, management consulting, or had a senior position in customer service, e-business, sales or HR.
- Your strength is to plan and coordinate consulting projects independently from beginning to end, and to react to (unexpected) events without losing track.
- You have experience in dealing with digital media in your area of expertise, from which results your passion for professional consulting in the context of digital transformation.
- You have successfully completed your university studies, have a good business sense and three to five years of professional experience in your area of expertise. You have already managed projects and teams, and know how to motivate your team members properly. You are familiar with the dynamics and rules of large organisations.
- Working together as a team, you naturally bring your know-how and your experience to the table and recognise and promote strengths within the team.

We offer:

- A permanent employment of 40 hours per week in an experienced, dynamic team
- Challenging and responsible work for leading national and international companies, combined with the opportunity to grow and advance yourself daily
- Further education and networking at selected national and international conferences, but also training within the context of paid working time
- Modern and agile co-working office space in the heart of Neubaugasse
- Invitation to vegetarian lunch every day
- Gross monthly salary: € 3,000 to 4,500 (depending on qualifications and experience)

That's how you want to operate? If so, we are looking forward to your application to
